Local leaders will discuss oral health issues

Deborah Colburn, managing director of Oral Health Awareness Colorado! (OHAC!), will be in Montrose on Thursday, Nov. 1, to meet with local leaders for a discussion on oral health care issues in the region. She will lead a "community conversation" at the Montrose Pavilion that evening from 6:30-8 p.m. hosted by the Community Dental Clinic in Montrose. Topics will include the 2008 oral health legislative agenda, oral health benefits in the Blue Ribbon Commission for Healthcare Reform process, and the SCHIP veto debate.

OHAC! is a coalition representing a wide range of public, private and non-profit organizations in Colorado interested in advancing oral health care in Colorado. Its mission is to develop and promote strategies that achieve optimal oral health for all Coloradans.
